Pedigree Verification Process

Verification of generations is done using copies of registration certificates and/or certified pedigrees issued by acceptable registries as listed above. In some instances, IHDA may already have these documents and therefore some of the dogs in a pedigree may already be verified. However, in many instances IHDA does not have any information on dogs within a pedigree especially if the dog is registered with another registry. IHDA does not have access to other registries' databases. Therefore, the only way verification can occur is to have an official document, as described above, to verify not only a dog's registered name and registration number but to also verify that dog's connection (parent, grandparent, or great-grandparent) to the dog. You will not be able to order a Certified Pedigree if we do not have 3 generations of verified dogs in our system.
